The Forever Knight Fun Page

Originally at http://www.geocities.com/Hollywood/Boulevard/5565/

Recovered via:
https://web.archive.org/web/20090830073525/http://www.geocities.com/Hollywood/Boulevard/5565/

Images:

Home Page:

to the Forever Knight Fun Page

FK trivia - test your knowledge

YKYB's - have you been watching too much?

Fun Threads

FK Characters as HSN Hosts

Vampire Socks

Quips & Quotes

From the FORKNI-L list

An Eight-year-old's View of Forever Knight

This page hosted by

Get your own Free Home Page

YKYBWTMFK

(You Know You've Been Watching Too Much FK When ...)

---

YNYBWTMFK when you start categorizing your children and your friends' kids by what FK faction they would belong to, rather than by their astrological sign. - Leslie GrantSmith

I was diving by my friends house and saw "Knight Cleaners" Hummmmm.... Also, I was watching Star Trek and the ships name was The Raven - Marla

I was in class today half asleep (stayed up too late) well the professor mentioned the phrase "crusaders caught up in obsessions". Well a flash of Nick being seduced just jumped in there. - Amanda Berendt

You know you've been watching too much FK when you buy a brand new car and you get to the point where your odometer reads 1228! This actuallly happened to me, btw! I bought a brand new Ford Aspire and thought of this! - Tammy Lidyard

The name of a newborn in our local newspaper caught my eye the other day, Alyssa Nichol. I had to wonder if her mom is a fan - MarciC (aka Nightlady)

YKYHBWTMFKW..... I had a dream last night that involved people playing chess with a Forever Knight chess set. Nick was the white King, Nat the white queen, Capts Stonetree and Reese were the white bishops, Schanke and Tracy where the white knights. I don't know who/what were the castles. The white pawns were uniformed cops. LaCroix was the black king, Divia the black queen, the Enforcers were the black bishops, Vachon and Screed were the black knights, Urs and Janette were the black castles, and various vampires from the Raven where the black pawns. Gee, do you think that company that makes all the collector plates and chess sets (Hamilton something) would be interested? - Lori Isabella

You spend 20 minutes picking out hand made stationery (from a choice of several different companies) at a specialty store. When you get home & open the package, you realize that the one you bought was made on "Vachon Island", Washington. - vampir

... you are driving home from work on a dreary day, have your radio blaring... hear a pounding sound coming from your trunk and for some reason... turn down your radio... (yes, I'm insane, but aren't we all?) - Lynn

When you are surfing the web and your eyes are drawn istantly to any word that even remotly resembles Nick or Forever Knight(such as "pick" or something referring to "knight"). Or when you are at the grocery store and you see a tomato that Just happened to grow into a strange shape that just happened to look like a Vampire bite (that one almost made me fall down laughing) and yes, Of course I bought that tomato. - Rebecca Scholz

My sister who just moved to Seattle, WA, called me excitedly to tell me that there is a reporter there for Channel 4 news, KOMO, whose name is Tracy Vetter! When she heard the announcer say her name, she nearly fell out of her chair.Maybe one of her stories will be from Vashon Island!!!! - Tina

At the mainentrance to my condo complex a couple of weeks ago were signs with balloons tied to them and arrows pointing down the drive. The signs read: "This Way to Nicholas' Birthday Party" ... Was I tempted???? Well.... - Kay Copeland

You're putting away you're sister's Ken doll and your first thought is what he'd look like with a crew cut. Ack! I'm turning into a NA! Must... puppy... pile.... - Ainsley

You Know You're Way Too Much Into Forever Knight When... You have over 1200 posts in your Vampire folder in your mailbox, and as it come down to 1228, you decide to leave it there for awhile! - D Robinson-Vincent (aka Bubbles)

When I went to the Gerthering, I stood outside the airport waiting for the shuttle that was going to take me to the hotel, when up drives a van with the text: "Knight's limousine service" on the side. - Mette Hedin

You know you that your obsessed with Forever Knight when in the middle of a Language exam (linguistics) you reread what you have just written and discover that instead of writing night as is in time, you have written Knight. - Tamara Gray

I was ringing up merchandise at work, and the total came out exactly to be $12.28. My boss, the other clerks, and all the customers were looking at me like I was crazy while I was standing there, giggling insanely. - Tracy S.Morris

You're driving on the freeway and see a convoy of Knight Transportation, complete with a picture of fully dressed knight on a horse, and start wondering if the vampire community has been on the move. - June Jackson

I was working on someone's pc at work and found out her password is "nickiger". I didn't have time to ask her where she got it. I guess I will have to make a trip back up there when I have the time to find out. - Stephanie Kellerman

Today, while waiting in line at the Chinese fast food take-out for my lunch, I glimpsed the insignia on the workshirt of a guy in front of me. He worked for AMPH. Of course my mind immediately translated that as "A More Permanent Hell (Inc.)" Of course, the company name was probably something completely mundane like "American Motorized Pickle Holders" or something, but it did give me a chuckle along with my egg foo yong. - Nancy Kaminski

I found myself several days ago telling a friend, "you cannot deny what you are", in reference to her current dilemma. It just slipped out and I smiled, although I don't believe my friend had any idea why her situation would cause me to smile. - holiday christie

YKYBWTMFK when your five year old son has a YKY...moment. He came home from school a few days ago with a BIG grin on his face and informed me that a new boy had joined the class...and that his name was Nicholas. And now for my own moment. I was reaching into my closet for a blazer and for the first time I really noticed the brand name of one of my shirts: Nicola. - Juli Monroe

In my evidence class yesterday, the professor gave us a hypothetical case to work on and -- are you ready? The problem involved a man named Lucien and he bought a boat on Vashon Island!!! While this New Yorker has no intentions of offending any Washingtonians, even though they are spelled and pronounced differently, I took it as a sign. Of what I am not quite sure yet. - Maria Salerno

You are walking throught the grocery store, and happen to walk down the aisle with the bottled water. Your eye catches one, "LaCroix bottle water" (Imported from Canada, no less!) and you think, 'So that's how he's making his money now days, wonder if he has something 'else' bottled for sale, too??' - Debra Chapman

YKYBWTMFK when you are at midnite madness and there is a big ad with a big phone number as follows: 555-1227 and you yell at everyone around you that it is wrong. just all wrong. - cousin rust

They hired a temp in our corresponding office named.... (drumroll please) Jeanette. Every time I get on the phone to talk to her, I have to force myself to pronounce the "J" in hard American style... instead of the soft and buzzing French style of the Jeanette we know and love. - Lynn

Had another FK moment this evening when a friend & I want out to dinner. We ordered a bottle of red wine & I left the table before it came. When I returned, the bottle was on the table with the cork halfway out & no glasses in sight. I had this momentary thought of grabbing the bottle, pulling the cork out with my teeth, spitting it across the room, & taking a drink!! - Barbara Vainio

I was channel surfing and briefly paused in the middle of a movie because on a store front awning were the words "Forever Fashion". I had this horrible flash of Janette

designing clothing, LaCroix as the salesman (never met a buyer he couldn't put the bite on), and Nick as their male model. - Terry Knox

When you're reading and listening to the evening news, half droning it out, and suddenly the newscaster draws your attention. It seems there may be progress in the development of synthetic blood products in the very near future. The medical community is excited because this will help save lives in a pinch when there's no real hemoglobin around...
...And somewhere in the back of your brain, a voice pipes up..."Oh, good! Now Nick won't have to drink the cow blood anymore...." - Angela Durrell

I was watching a horse show on ESPN and one of the jumpers was named "Ardenne (?) de la Barre." She was a Selle Francais mare. I was too busy seeing the "de la Barre" portion of her name to catch the first part, but there you go, the same name as the evil Lord Delabarre, Gwynneth's killer. - Nancy Kaminski

I was in my Colonial Latin America class and we were talking about why the Spanish 'won'. One of the reasons we came up with was disease. So we started talking about Small Pox. The Prof said that one of the treatments was bleeding the victim. And then he said (and I quote) "We know what happens when we take too much." (these were his exact words, I wrote them down) I almost started laughing. I just kept thinking of Nick!!!! Don't take too much!!! - Amanda Berendt

Here I am reading list stuff, when I hear a commercial that starts "There's still 1 missle left, Nick, but you have to get there fast..." I look up as the actor gets into a car & I think "If you need to get there fast, why don't you just fly?!!" - Barbara Vainio

You are watching the episode of Kung Fu: The Legend Continues with CD in it and her character is checking Cain for a bullet wound that was no longer there and he says "I heal fast", and you do a double take to make sure you're watching the right show. - Brandi Morgan

I was enjoying my copy of the new Bjork 'Homogenic' CD, noting the vampire-y lyrics of 'Hunter' and the 'Bachelorette' track - "I'm a fountain of blood, in the shape of a girl..." - innocently reading the info booklet, when there in print, I espy the words 'Photography by Nick Knight' in the credits!
Hmmm...now I keep hearing Nick saying, "Come up to my loft; I'll show you the darkroom. I like dark." - Bonnie Rutledge

Today I was typing a mailing label to the "Director, Rates and Regulation" of a natural gas company. I'd gotten as far as peeling the label off the strip and almost placing it on the envelope when I noticed I'd addressed it to the "Director of Rat Regulations."
As far as I know, Screed does not regulate rats but I did double check the name as well as the title to make sure! - Libby Singleton

You see Van Der Wal as the last name of a guest star on FX: The Series and it reminds you of the exorcist in Sons of Belial.

You're watching a show about supercollectors and you find a guy named Lambert.
You're flipping channels while eating and see some named Grace Lambert asking Oprah a question and it makes you think of Grace and Natalie. - Judy Freudenthal

I was in my car, with my mother looking for a building. The building Number was 1228. When we got there, we had to look at the list of doctors. There was a Dr. Nicholas! And a doctor Natalie in the same practice and room! That was the room we needed to go to. As soon as we walked in, a tall, blonde, and very handsome doctor showed us in! - Danielle Goldstein

when you start to do the Washington Post Sunday crossword puzzle & get to the clue "Roman general" & can't understand why Lucius doesn't fit with the rest of the words. - Barbara Vainio

I had a hilarious time seeing two news casters Nick Miller and Jan Smith on TV. Their first names were bold faced while their last names weren't; so on TV it read News by Nick and Jan. ROTFL!!! No vampires made the news though, darn! - Edna Walker

I was watching the Simpsons at midnight and it was the Pretzel Wagon one. Anyway Homer was driving a light bluish greenish 60's ish caddy convertable. Geee.....Fk even invades the cartoon world! - Amanda Berendt

You see a book titled _Figuring Out Roman Nobility_ and get all excited and wonder if the General is mentioned. So you check the contents...and one chapter is entitled "Curiouser and Curioser" (that's not a spelling mistake--it's about Latin names in Juvenal's 8th _Satire_).
One of the other chapters is entitled "Fallen Idols" too. Think John Henderson from U of Cambridge is an FK fan putting some inside jokes into his book? Hmmm? - Kusine Kaninchen

My college newspaper printed a list of car anagrams. This one made me think of FK:
PONTIAC= Poor Old Nick Thinks It's A Cadilac - Debbie Chilson

You Know You Have Too Much Forever Knight Stuff on Your Computer When...
You have the picture of Fleur and Lacroix set up as your wall paper, and the mouse cursor pops up on Lacroix's neck at startup, and you think, "Bite Here." - Jessica Murray

You know that you have been watching too much Forever Knight or that your crush on LC has gone too far when you are reading the new company handbook and spot the LaCroix Award. Your first thought is on the company is giving out awards for the best vampire, then you find out that it is for an employee who does something above the call of duty. Oh well, LC has gotten a lot further than he should have sometimes, so maybe it is named after him. - Cousin Joni

I was riding around Mahwah NJ looking for a church to take a picture of for a project. It was almost dark and I passed this business with the name "BENNETT" real big in lights, so I looked and in the parking lot was a van with the name "LaCroix" on the side. I couldn't see more because I had slowed down to 20 MPH and I still amost ran off the road. - Amanda Berendt

At work today I was ringing up a customer who was wearing a stocking cap. He took the cap off, and had this grey-blonde buzz cut. I had to walk away so he wouldn't think I was laughing at him. - Tracy S.Morris

FK Characters as HSN Hosts

>Barry Diller, CEO of HSN (Home Shopping Networks) has purchased USA Networks from Universal. The >combined nets will go under the name USA Networks. There are no further details at this time.

I can see it now... "Next, we have this beautiful TV show for sale, just in time for the holiday season. It's the only one of its kind in stock - Fever Knight. Oh, I'm sorry, Forever Knight.... Price was several million dollars, but for the next sixty seconds you can pick it up for just $59.95! Order item number FK1228...." - Eric McCann

When I heard this news on the radio today, why did I suddenly have a vision of Nick, Natalie, LaCroix and Janette selling things on the Home Shopping Network? Nick could sell home electronics, Janette could sell clothes (of course), Natalie could sell collectible dolls and cosmetics... and LaCroix could sell... cubic zirconia jewelry! - StephiLyn Fryar

I suppose that Vachon could do the music shows and Screed could sell the toys and animal products? And, of course, Natalie could do health aides. - Joni

I'd say Schanke has a better way with"GEN-U-INE CZ DIAMONDS"... Lacroix would do better with the home electronics, while Nick could sell exercise equipment and tanning beds. - Brenda Faith Bell

Schanke could do bowling gear and sports memorabilia.... - Mary Combs

Screed can join Disney and sell Mickey Mouse products. - DrJulia

"Gangs of Vampire Socks"

They were brought across in 1998

Preyed on dryers for their lint.

Now, they want to be paired again.

To repay consumers for their sins

To emerge from their world of oneness

From their endless...Forever Right...

...or Left...? - Angela Durrell

I have strange mental pictures of vampire socks roaming through my cupboards attacking my underwear and other socks that had managed to keep together, introducing them to the dark side of the drawer....arrgghh! - Jayne Gleed

Janette would definitely be silk stockings.... with a seam, and the type that require a lacy garter to keep them up! Nick would be... argyles? nobody's every perfectly comfortable with argyles, and Nick certainly isn't comfortable with himself! Natalie would probably be warm woolen comfy socks, the kind you cuddle up on the couch with. LaCroix? Black silk/cotton blend? not sure on this one... Vachon.... I can see him in white tube socks under all the black leather! (ewww! what a thought!) Tracy is definitely cotton anklets. No, make that knee socks! (like the ones girls wear with a school uniform) Urs is fishnet stockings.... seductive, but trampy. Screed? mismatched socks, of course, from the Salvation Army bin. Don... maybe Don needs the argyles. But then what would Nick wear? - Carla Martinek

If Schanke wore argyles, I'd bet Myra made sure they were hand-knit.
If you're female and have ever had to wear (gasp, choke) nylons, you know that there is no such thing as a vampire sock -- only vampire furniture which likes to stick its fangs into your hose just as you have an important interview, or a hot date, or want to impress somebody... - Brenda F. Bell

It strikes me that LC's socks wouldn't dare get lost. However, it does raise an interesting vision of him at an all night laundromat trying to separate delicates from regular wash. - Barbara Vainio

I just had a vision of LaCroix holding up two socks and staring at the heels and whammying them into staying together in the washer and dryer. Hmmmm...could whammying socks cause static cling? - Terri Wadsworth

List Humor

these are bits & pieces that I found funny, your milage may vary

From: Rosebud

Subject: Re: Writers: Request for Submissions

I found this on the FK newsgroup this morning and nearly fell off my chair laughing! Sounds like the perfect place for Nick Knight fanfic!

I really did need a good laugh this morning!

Moozine wrote:

> The editors of "Moo," a quarterly Web journal about and for fan

> fiction, seek submissions for the first issue. --

Jeri E. Friedman

Rosebud@gnv.fdt.net Gainesville, FL, USA

 PRESIDENT OF THE OFFICIAL FRED MOLLIN FAN CLUB ***

Visit Our Website at http://www.mtl.net/solidarite/fmfc

Email me for information on how to join!

I guess birdies would fall down out of the trees if Nick asked them to. - Nyx Fixx

I'd better shut up now, before my lurker status is completely shot. - Nyx Fixx

(Re:Blood Drinking)Sometimes I wonder why Nick and Co. don't burst like ticks when they do this greedy swilling. - Nyx Fixx

It's late at night and I'm brainfarting big time.... - Angela Durrell

Ratpackers don't need encourage to get into mischief. - Libby Singleton

Janette's hair in STF . . . . What, was she using the cursed hairbrush from Friday the 13th:the Series? - Susan Garrett

Does anyone besides me think Gilbert Gottfried would be a PERFECT carouche? - Libby Singleton

I never have a lucid moment, well maybe a Lucien moment... but ... oh never mind - Lynn

Ratpackers don't just look at both sides of an issue, they scurry all around, all over and inside of it. - Libby Singleton

Oh I don't know, I could argue both sides forever... :) (Hopping off her little soap box, dusting it off, and lugging it away behind her.) - Lynnette

Libby Singleton wrote: Libby & all the other Ratpackers start staring hungrily at the List Hamsters!
Please don't eat the list hamsters. I need my forkni-l! - emily dachowitz

Linda said:
>Susan sings too? Is there no end to her talents?
after Laurie Schlagel wrote:
> I saw Susan (Garrett) at the Long Island singing last night; it was a lot of fun.

Damn it, Jim, I'm a writer, not a performer! - Susan M. Garrett

If vampires DO get to share some of their victim's intoxication, then can you imagine what the sixties {the days of cheap and plentiful acid and other whoopies} might have been like for them? Maybe that's where the term "Happy Meal" originated? - Sami Thompson

Distaff FK

What if the genders of all the characters were reversed? Who do you see playing the parts then? Here's my list:

Nick=Hudson Leick (Callisto on "Xena")

Schanke=Suzy Plakson (K'Eylahr on "ST:TNG")

LaCroix=Sharon Stone ("Basic Instinct")

Janette=Raul Julia ("Addams Family")

Natalie=Alexander Siddig ("Deep Space Nine")

Tracy=Eric Stoltz ("The Prophecy")

Vaschon=Elizabeth Pena ("Jacob's Ladder")

Urs=Johnny Depp ("Ed Wood")

Screed=Andrea McArdle ("SCTV")

Cohen=George Takei ("Star Trek")

Divia=McCauley Culken ("Home Alone") - Zahir Blue

---

Schanke=Rosie O'Donnell (Couldn't help it, she'd do right by his

one-liners)

LaCroix=your idea of Sharon Stone really works... or that woman

from Single White Female (what was her name???)

Janette=Adrian Paul ("Highlander" he shows enough sensuality to make a woman want to live forever, if you know what I mean )

Urs=GWD ... Just Kidding!!!! (Hoping to not get knocked unconscious as people throw hard copies of IoM at her)

Divia=Emmanuel Lewis (Sorry, after casting GWD in the Distaff

role of Urs, I decided to make my crossover into insanity

complete.) - Lynn

Forever... Pooh?

Someone told me that everyone's personality can be classified as a character from Whinnie the Pooh. I was curious as to what character the FK crew could be classified as and why... for example:

Nick - he is both Tigger and Piglet (with a touch of Eeore in his more "angsty" moments)

Nat - Definite Rabbit

Jeanette - Kanga

LaCroix - The bees in the tree that chase Pooh or Owl

Urs - Roo

Tracy - Christopher Robin

Vachon - Definite Tigger - Lynn

An Eight-year-old's View of Forever Knight

Date: Sun, 12 Oct 1997 15:23:51 -0400
Reply-To: Forever Knight TV show
Sender: Forever Knight TV show
From: Laurie Schlagel
Subject: An Eight Year Old's Take On FK
To: FORKNI-L@lists.psu.edu

The two children of my best friend, who I visit frequently, have been bugging me for a while to show them some FK, their interest piqued by my constant chattering about the show. (Jamie spent most of my last visit with two pretzel rods stuck in her mouth, going, "Look, Laurie, fangs!)

So after several aborted prior attempts (it figures that with 130 cable channels to pick from, the Sci Fi Channel is the only one with reception problems), this weekend we viewed Father Figure and parts of Dark Knight. They're eight and nine (Edward), and watched with full parental permission (although both mom and dad watch almost no tv, and refused to have anything to do with this little conversion exercise). I'll also add that they are both quite savvy kids, and as we were watching, I would pause to explain stuff, answer questions (so they also got an FK history lesson at the same time), and also occasionally hit the fast forward (mainly through the very "talky" bits).

Herewith an eight and nine year old's take on FK, in no particular order:

1) Jamie thought Nick was very cute, and both thought Natalie was very pretty, Jamie said she might want to look like her when she grows up. Of course, they said the same exact thing about Janette ...

2) About halfway through DK, Jamie remarked, "Nick's pretty stupid and pretty smart at the same time."

3) When Edward asked whether Janette liked being a vampire, Jamie rolled her eyes and replied, "Of course, she does, Edward. The only one who doesn't like being a vampire is Nick."

4) During the first LC/Nick/Alyse scene, Jamie knew exactly where she stood on the question "Which is it going to be, the girl or the cup?" When Nick went to save Alyse, and the cup dropped, Jamie was like "He should have gone for the cup." I asked her why, and her comments were "Well, she's just gonna die anyway. The daddy vampire (LC) is just gonna kill her later. After all, she's only the guest star." and "Nick should think more of himself. "

5) Edward wondered why Nick, being 800 years old and all, didn't know that a metal stake would not kill a vampire.

6) They both wanted to know if LC was really dead, so I told them about Killer Instinct. And of course they both wanted to know how LC managed to come back to life. Which led to a brief conversation on plot holes and continuity. They were both extremely annoyed that no explanation was given; Jamie's comment was, "Those dumb producers. They always do that."

7) They wanted to know how LC became a vampire. I left that tale for another day.

8) They wanted to know how the series ended. They figured either Nick accepted his vampirism or Natalie found a cure. I didn't have the heart to tell them that there were actually other alternatives. I told them that sometimes series end without everything being resolved. After all, that is the way FK ended, without everything being resolved, right?

9) Later that evening, at bedtime, Jamie decided that she had to keep the light on in her room, cause she was scared vampires might come and get her. I threatened to never ever show her another second of FK, and she soon changed her tune.

10) They both want to know about Nick's family from before he was a vampire, and want me to bring Be My Valentine next time, although they weren't too thrilled when I told them that BMV was kind of a "mushy" ep.

11) They really want to see Green Eggs and Ham again, which I had shown them previously. Jamie was like, "Aha, that's why he said Schanke-I-Am."

Laurie Schlagel, MercBard, Will FILK for Chocolate
lschlag@intercall.com
"The proof is in a single strand of hair. It's really silver."

---

An Eight Year Old's Take On FK - A Follow-Up

My thirteen year old watches when she is not doing something else - she is a Buffy fan too.

Re: Nick - "Oh he has such big puppy dog eyes!  We should put him in a puppy suit!"
(Plainly too much Animaniacs and perhaps that Rosie O"Donnell when Donny Osmond had to wear the infamous puppy suit and sing Puppy Love"
Re:Vachon - If he got left out in the sun he'd fry and just his hair would be left." - "Casting T.F. Stone"